Born in Jamaica: As Caribbean as the Sun and Sea

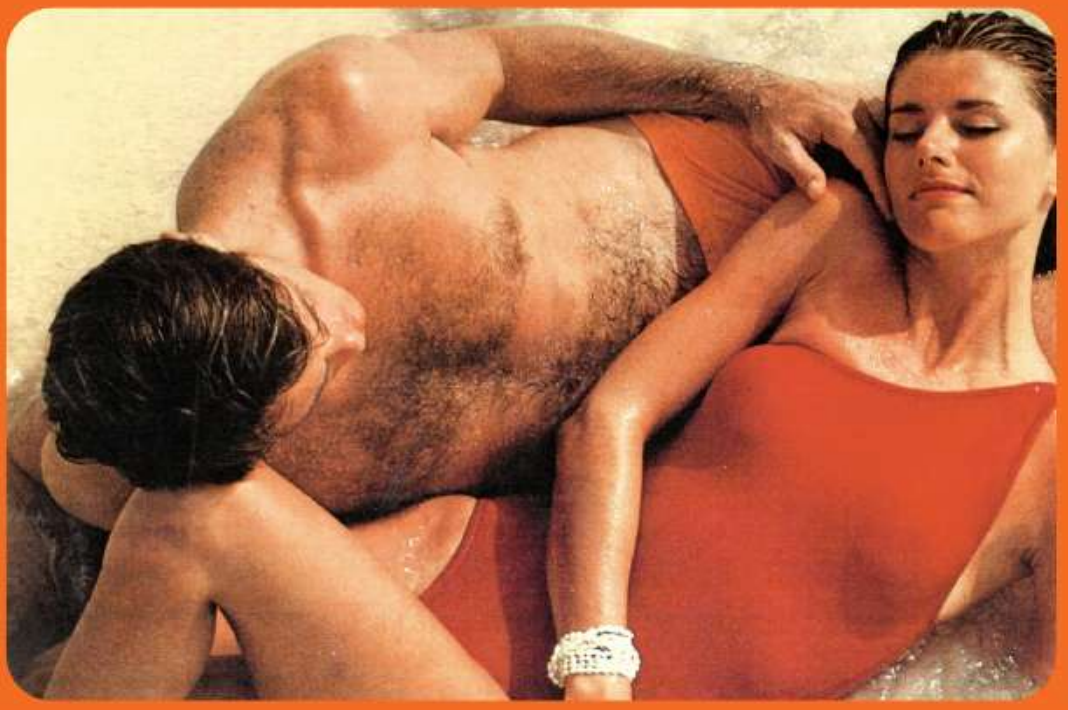

Swoon-worthy suites.
Every craving covered.
The ultimate all-inclusive vacation was born at Sandals and Beaches Resorts.

A YOUNG GORDON "BUTCH" STEWART, FOUNDER OF SANDALS AND BEACHES RESORTS, CELEBRATING THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA IN CARIBBEAN VACATIONING.

An island this beautiful with people this warm is simply too good to keep to ourselves. Pair that with the kind of hospitality that greets you like family every time you arrive, and you'll understand why Sandals is as Caribbean as the sun and sea.

Jamaica has always been home. It's where Sandals Resorts, and later Beaches, were born. It's also where our love story with the Caribbean began, when Jamaican entrepreneur Gordon "Butch" Stewart transformed an ordinary hotel stay into a first-of-its-kind resort. Since 1981, this island has been the starting point for all-you-can-dream-of vacations where everything you need is truly included. We know it like family. Every hidden waterfall. Every jerk chicken spot worth the wait. The best rum punch recipe passed down through generations. That's the kind of knowledge you only get by living it, loving it, and calling it home — and nothing would bring us more joy than to share it with the world.

IT STARTS WITH OUR PEOPLE

In Jamaica, hosting is built into our culture. It's the easy rhythm of conversation, the smile that shows up before the words, the sense that you've stepped into a circle of friends instead of a resort lobby.

Sandals began as an adults-only expression of this way of life, and it shapes everything we do. Later, Beaches was born to extend that same all-inclusive Caribbean welcome to every member of the family. Warm greetings here are instinctive, names and faces are remembered like favorite songs. We anticipate the story you'll want to tell when you return home, and we're already mixing the drink that will go with it. That's the joy of being your island host, and why hospitality here feels as natural as the ocean breeze.

Innovation is in our DNA. From sourcing the freshest local ingredients to creating stunning suites you never thought possible, we're always finding new ways to raise the bar on what's included in the best all-inclusive vacation in the Caribbean.

Welcome to Our Home

So how does this tiny island make the whole world shake?

LOCAL CRAFT MARKETS ARE THE PULSE OF THE ISLAND. VENDORS PROUDLY DISPLAY THEIR LOVE FOR THE ARTS EVERYWHERE YOU JOURNEY.

Jamaicans are warm, welcoming, and full of joy — it's no wonder our hospitality is known around the world. We're proud to be Jamaican-owned, and we look forward to welcoming you to the place we call home. Hey, we might even want to show off a bit.

When you're sipping a cocktail poolside, diving into water sports, or exploring the riches the island has to offer, every moment pulses with Jamaican energy. And we know a thing or two about it: we've been doing this for over 40 years.

Real place. Real people. Everything good starts right here.

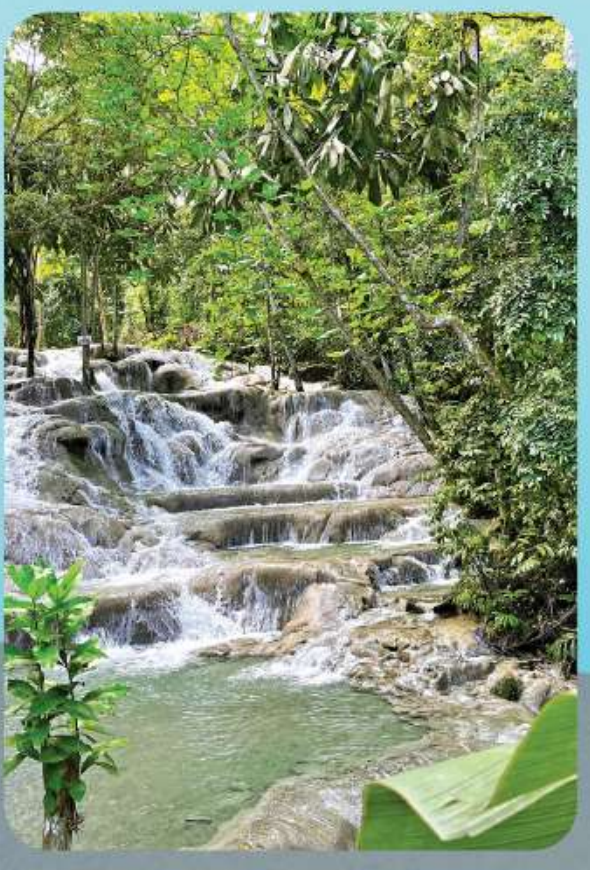

COME AS A GUEST

Leave Like Family

Jamaica meets you with open arms. Step off the plane, and the island greets you before the customs line ends. The air smells like sea salt and something grilled. Music hums low from somewhere nearby. A man flashes a grin and says, “Wah gwaan?” with a warm smile. You don’t know exactly what that means yet — but it feels right. Beyond that, the vibe finds you, fast. Your shoulders drop. You can breathe a little deeper. In and out. In and out. It’s not the type of island that asks you to relax. It just shows you how.

Everywhere you go, the island tells you what it’s like to live out loud: basslines ride the breeze, laughter spills from shopfronts, kids race past on rollerskates and bicycles. A woman in the market hands you a fresh slice of mango, dripping with nectar and still warm from the sun. You didn’t ask. She just saw you looking. That’s how it is here.

When you move through Jamaica, people bring you into the fold. They’ll show you where to find the best ackee and saltfish, Jamaica's national dish, where the reef glows at night, how to reach a hillside lookout you won’t see on any map. You’ll get directions, stories, and jokes sometimes all at once. You won’t be treated like a tourist. You’ll be treated like a neighbor.

When you move through Jamaica, people bring you into the fold. You'll get directions, stories, and jokes, sometimes all at once. Here, you'll be treated like a neighbor.

So the way you show up matters. When you sip local coffee, eat at the corner jerk shack, or buy a hand-carved bracelet at a roadside stop, you do more than get a taste of the island. You're helping fuel it, supporting generations of craftmakers and keeping traditions alive. And the island gives back in its own way — with warm waves, delicious fruits, seaside breezes, and people who treat you like family, even if it's your first time here. It answers you with moments that stick, memories that become stories you'll want to tell again and again.

In Jamaica, kindness is always a given. So ask questions. Eat with your hands. Dance in the street. Around here, you're part of something bigger.

GET ON ISLAND TIME

Like a Local

Best Time to Visit

There's no wrong time to visit Jamaica. The experience of a lifetime unfolds here 365 days a year, with warm seas, steady breezes, and sun-lit days that make every arrival feel perfectly timed. If you're looking to escape the crowds, we recommend fall or summer. Expect the occasional afternoon sunshower, but don't worry, they pass quickly and leave the world feeling fresh and brand new. The Reggae Sumfest concert during July or Carnival during March are also peak moments to feel the island at full volume.

Currency

Our resorts run on USD, but the colorful Jamaican dollar is widely accepted across the island. If you're heading out to explore, it's easy to exchange currency right at the resort — the rest is on us.

Language: English, Jamaican Patois

The Jamaican accent is iconic: smooth and cool, like music on the tongue. The name of the dialect spoken on the island is Patois (pronounced pat-wah), but with English as the main language, you won't have a problem being understood. Looking to connect with the locals? Try a few Jamaican phrases. They'll love that you made the effort.

Wah Gwaan, Weh
Mi Deh Yah, Irie
Big Up Yourself,

"WAH GWAAN"

Translation: What's up?
A standard informal greeting, easy and relaxed just like after a long day at the beach.

"WEH YUH DEH PON"

Translation: What are you on?
What's going on?
An alternative to wah gwaan.

"MI DEH YAH"

Translation: I'm here, chilling.
The response to wah gwaan or weh yuh deh pon. If the Jamaican version of what's up is wah gwaan, then our version of nothing much is mi deh yah, which loosely translates to I'm hanging in there.

"IRIE"

Translation: All is well.
Irie is something you'll be saying a lot with us.

"RESPEK"

Translation: Respect.
A local way of saying thank you.

"BIG UP YOURSELF" or "BIG UP"

Translation: Another way of saying thank you or showing appreciation.

"SOON COME"

Translation: I'll be there soon.
Hearing this phrase doesn't necessarily mean the person will come soon.

Yuh Deh Pon, , Respek, Big Up, Soon Come

Local Etiquette

Respek: give it and you can expect to receive it in return. When entering a room or joining a group of people, Jamaicans appreciate when you offer a general greeting to everyone. Jamaicans also love it when you try to use the language and dance moves!

What to Bring

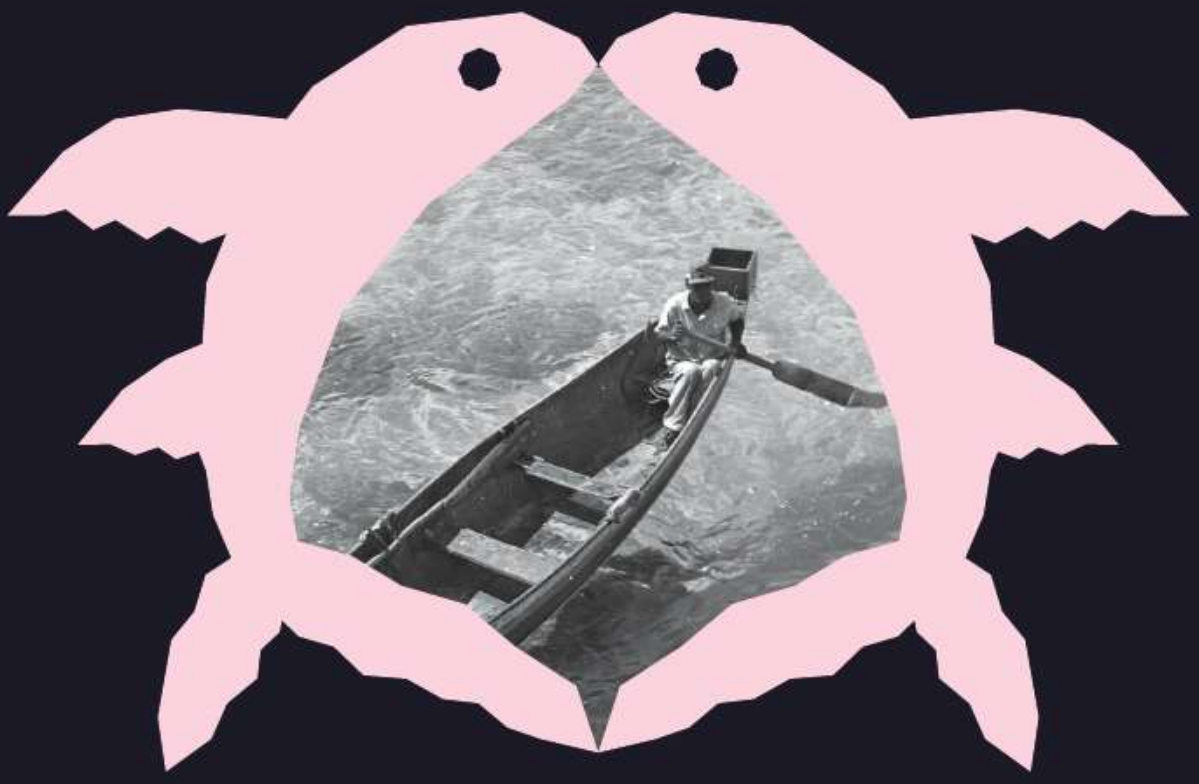

Sandals, of course, or opt to go barefoot on the beach. The main thing to remember is we keep it hot and steamy over here. The average temperature is around 86 °F (30 °C), and lightweight layers will be key to dress for success. You're going to want to bring swimwear, cover ups, lightweight pants, shirts, dresses, and a fancier outfit or two for our fine dining restaurants with a dress code.

Essentials List

2 swimsuits
4–5 tops / t-shirts
2–3 pairs of shorts
1–2 pants or capris
1 pair of sandals
1–3 hats, baseball or wide brimmed
2 sets of PJs
2 summer dresses
Sunscreen

Remember outfit options for a special night out. The best resort restaurants often call for something more than coastal casual.

Jamaica is a living mosaic of ocean, mountain, forest, and culture. What connects it all is care — for the land, people, and generations still to come.

Home sweet island home. Jamaica's variety is magical. One minute you're diving into turquoise waters, the next you're climbing misty mountain trails covered with lush trees blushing with fruits and flowers you've never seen before. Thanks to its tropical marine climate, it's one of the most biodiverse places on Earth, home to more than 3,000 species of plants and animals — nearly a third of which are found nowhere else. Even the largest butterfly in the Western Hemisphere flutters through our forests. Things are warm year-round by the beach, and the topography creates diverse microclimates across the inland.
So, the well-worn tourism slogan of "sun, sand, and escape" is completely true — but there's more to the story.

Sustaining Local Traditions

Beneath it all is limestone, shaped by time into caves, underground rivers, and waterfalls that make up what's called a karst landscape (which, for you, means rivers to drift down and grottoes to explore). Above ground, the Blue Mountains rise like a botanical spine, formed by ancient tectonic shifts and cloaked in cloud forest — a rare, cool ecosystem that feels worlds away from the beach. It's all connected. And it's all incredibly fragile, in need of protection for future generations.

That's why we created the Sandals® Foundation: to protect the environment, community, and educational infrastructure that make this place so mighty. When you visit us, you're helping support coral restoration projects, turtle conservation, marine sanctuaries, and sustainable farming.

We're planting trees, building schools, and fighting to keep invasive species like lionfish from tipping the balance. Every project is a step toward a cleaner, stronger Caribbean.

But this isn't just about nature. It's about culture, too. Local hands make this island what it is — from roadside food stops to handmade crafts to farmers who know their soil like family. We partner with Jamaican artisans and agricultural communities to keep those traditions thriving. So when you taste the fruit, feel the woodwork, or hear the drumbeat, you're connecting to something real and rooted.

With your help, we're making sure Jamaica stays Jamaica for generations to come.

We believe the Caribbean should be left better than we found it. That means planting over 32,000 coral pieces, collecting 162,000 pounds of waste, and restoring vibrant playgrounds for fish. From tens of thousands of trees to pristine coastlines, we protect paradise so its beauty, biodiversity, and natural wonders last forever.

We believe knowledge should be nurtured. We've donated 300,000 books, built libraries from the ground up, and reached over 400,000 students. Scholarships unlock passions, classrooms spark futures, and each page read becomes a stepping stone to a better tomorrow. By giving children the tools to imagine, learn, and grow, we empower the next generation to write stories they'll be proud of.

We believe communities should be cared for. Across the Caribbean, over a million lives have been touched through essential health care. Beyond medicine, we empower women, engage youth, and provide skills to weather life's storms. Because when every islander has the chance to grow, the entire region blossoms in strength and resilience.

Jamaica by Region

Pick Your Playground

This island may be small, but its variety is vast. As one of the most biodiverse places on Earth, we give you more to see, taste, and do in every stay. Get to know the personality of each region and find the resort that's your best match.

The vibe: The original tourist gem of Jamaica. Golden beaches and offshore islands.

Affectionately called “MoBay” by the locals, Montego Bay is where the world first fell in love with Jamaica and where Sandals first opened its doors. Sandals Montego Bay and Sandals Royal Caribbean sit right at the heart of it all, making them the perfect base to explore the best of the North Coast.

Spend your days snorkeling off Doctor’s Cave Beach or cruising the calm waters of Montego Bay Marine Park. Stroll the Hip Strip for a taste of local flavor and nightlife.

Or, head inland to uncover river adventures, lush hills, and hidden-away jerk spots only the locals know.

It’s a great destination if you’re ready to jet set right into vacation — you’re just minutes from the international airport.

Montego Bay

Sandals Montego Bay

Join us where the vacation dream began. Just minutes from the airport, the original all-inclusive, adults-only Sandals Resort puts Jamaica's largest private white-sand beach right outside your door. Today, Sandals Montego Bay has even more ways to get swept up in the romance and rhythm of Jamaica's stunning coastline. Explore different pools, water ski along the waves, or just take a stroll along the shore.

Because it's so close to the airport, it's become the go-to for those who pack light, fly fast, and are looking to run away for the weekend.

If sunshine and a long stretch of white sand are what the doctor ordered, we've got your prescription covered.

MONTEGO BAY

Always Included. Always Unlimited. All the Time.

However you play it — above the waves or beneath them — it's all included. What will come first: toes in the sand or a cocktail in hand? Maybe both. Here, the hardest choice you'll make is between splashing on the waves or sinking into a poolside lounger. Either way, the clock's not ticking. This is MoBay time, and it's always on your side.

Stay Here, Tan There.

When you stay at Sandals Montego Bay, you also get full exchange privileges at Sandals Royal Caribbean right next door. Stroll over or take a quick transfer to enjoy twice the dining, drinks, beaches, and adventures — all included, all yours.

DRAW THE BATH, OPEN THE DOORS, LET THE ISLAND IN.

MEGA-SPACIOUS SUITES GIVE YOU THE SPACE TO ROAM, DREAM, AND PLAY — ALWAYS KEEPING THE OCEAN FRONT AND CENTER.

MONTEGO BAY

MONTEGO BAY

Sandals Royal Caribbean

An escape from the ordinary with surprises at every turn, English elegance meets island rhythm at the main resort. Think afternoon tea by the sea, pickup croquet on the lawn, and a classic British pub just steps from the beach. Even the peacocks seem to know they're part of something special. Just offshore, a private island shifts the vibe entirely. Balinese-style cabanas, a swim-up bar, and hammocks over the water create a space that feels far away — though it's only a short boat ride from shore (on us).

For something truly next-level, stay in one of the Caribbean's first Overwater Bungalows or Villas, where glass floors, soaking tubs, and suspended hammocks blur the line between inside and island.

Savor Every Shore

From the island's hammocks, you might drift to the swim-up bar for another round, or simply float until the sun begins to fall. By the time it sets, you're back at the main resort for your choice of nine restaurants to end the night. Here, your taste buds will travel as far as your passport. Try French classics at Le Jardinier, or fragrant Indian spices at Bombay, and a world of flavors in between. Every craving covered, every plate a story worth remembering.

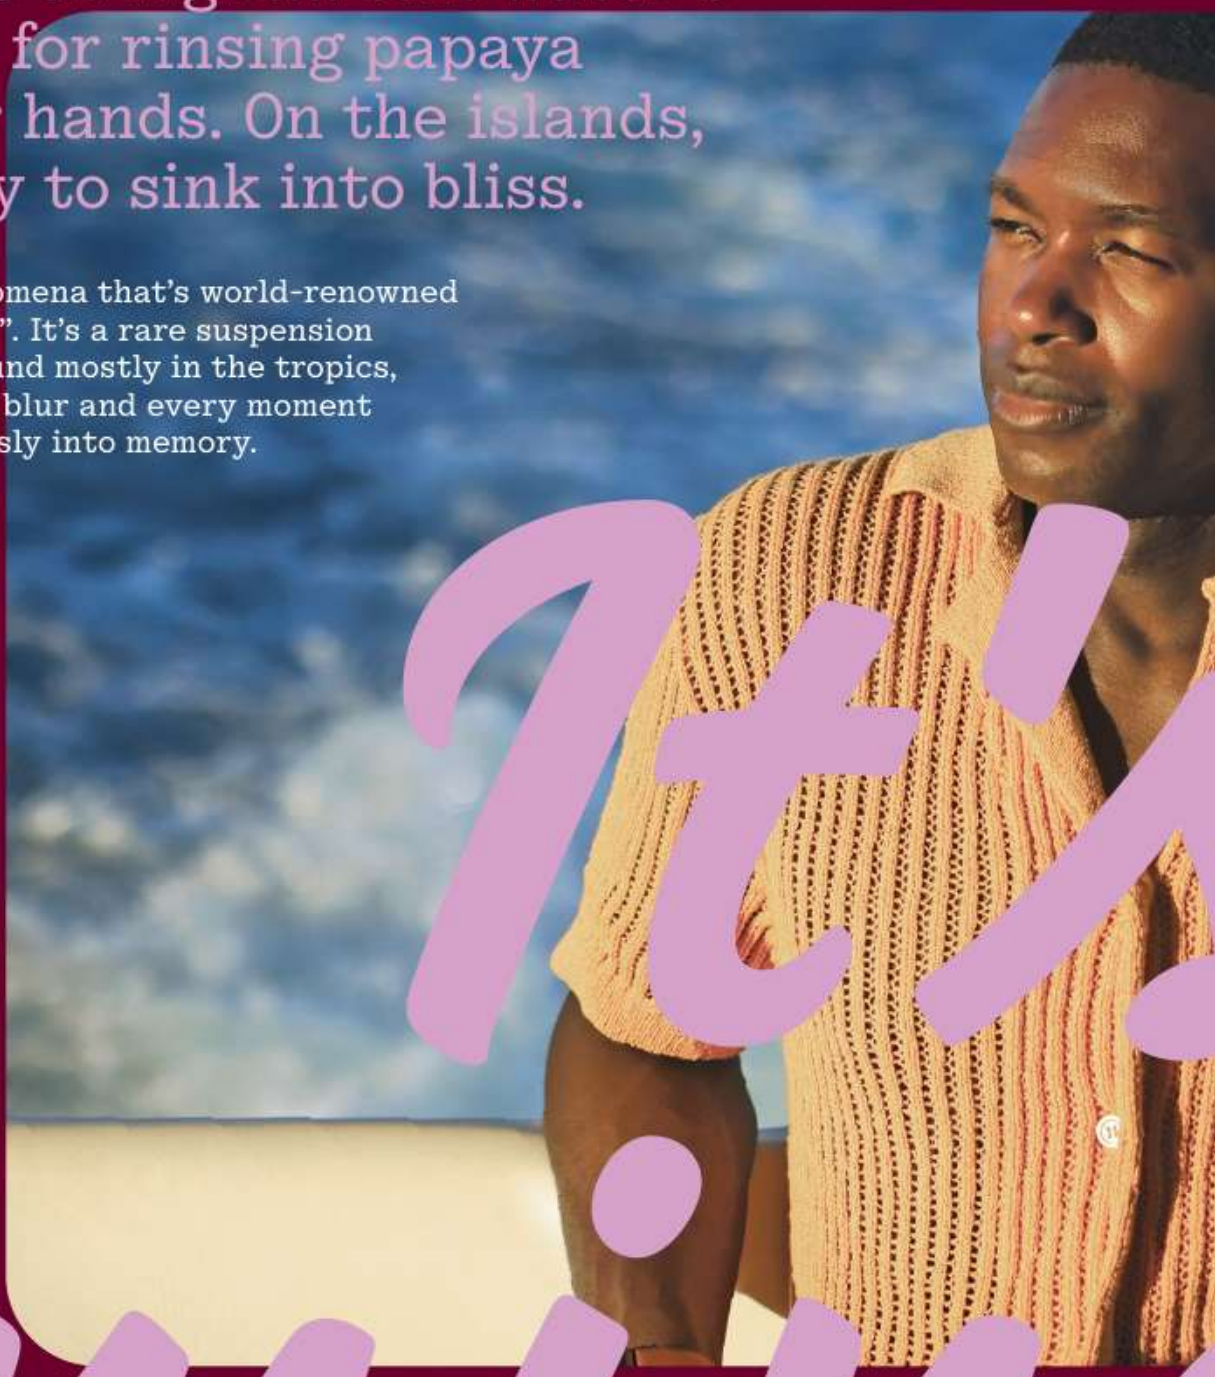

Chart Your Adventure

Beyond the resort, Jamaica hums with spice markets, waterfalls, and music on the breeze. Step out if you'd like; the island is close at hand. Either way, we handle the details. You collect the moments.

Sunset. Bubbles. Fresh fish. Poolside at night... salt water's perfect for rinsing papaya off your hands. On the islands, it's easy to sink into bliss.

We live a phenomena that's world-renowned as "island time". It's a rare suspension of the clock found mostly in the tropics, where minutes blur and every moment melts effortlessly into memory.

Martha Brae

MONTEGO BAY

The Martha Brae doesn't ask for your attention. It doesn't need to. It just pulls you in. You step onto the raft — hand-tied bamboo, thick and worn smooth by time — suddenly, everything else fades. You're gliding through the lush parish of Trelawny, the sun flickering through the trees. The water moves slowly but surely beneath you. And without meaning to, you begin to match its pace.

Your captain stands tall at the back, steering with a single pole like he's part of the current. He talks as he works — stories of Arawak legends, of the meaning behind the river's name. Memories of jumping off these same rafts as a kid, chasing mangoes and mischief downstream.

He hums, his voice drifting with the stream. Their songs become one.

The river winds past jungle and wildflowers, past banana trees and sleepy bends, past everything you didn't know you needed to see. The banks rise and fall like they're breathing. You feel it all, but there's no need to name it. By the time the ride ends, something in you feels lighter. Calmer. It's the type of hush that only comes when the modern world is out of reach. Nothing has changed, but somehow you don't feel the same.

Highlights

Montego Bay moves at its own rhythm — easygoing and unforgettable. Don't miss a trip to the Hip Strip, a lively stretch along Gloucester Avenue with bars, restaurants, and a collection of local shop. Nearby, swim in the calm clear waters of Doctor's Cave Beach, where the sand is soft and the energy feels healing.

Hit the local markets for handmade goods, island spices, and the kind of conversations that stay with you. When the sun dips low, jump on a catamaran and head for open water — music up, breeze in your hair, dancing encouraged. Want space to yourself? Book a boat. Cast a line. MoBay always knows how to show you a good time.

Pon di Road

"On the Road"

Doctor's Cave

This beach got its name from the healing mineral waters that come from a secret undeground spring. Doctor's Cave can be added by request as part of a private Island Routes experience. Swim, unwind, then head to a nearby local restaurant for the day's freshest catch.

Gloucester Avenue (The Hip Strip)

Gloucester Avenue is where MoBay's culture comes alive. Think lively storefronts, open-air bites, and an island feeling that makes you slow your step without even trying.

MoBay by Boat

Listen to the best of Jamaican music with wind in your hair and salt on your skin. It's a memory you won't soon forget. If you're feeling brave, why not try to bust a dance move taught by your lively hosts? The vibes are infectious.

Rose Hall Great House

Candlelit and captivating, this 18th-century estate is Montego Bay's spookiest night out. Walk its grand halls as your guide brings the story of Annie Palmer, the island's infamous "White Witch," to life with tales of romance, intrigue, and whispered secrets.

Named by the Spanish, Ocho Rios translates to "eight rivers," but in reality there are far more. Expect green jungle backdrops, natural swimming pools of mineral spring water, and luscious waterfalls that spill out onto the beach. Impress the locals by using its pet name "Ochi" if you want to blend in.

Ocho Rios is home to three Sandals Resorts, each located near Dunn's River Falls — a national landmark where water cascades through limestone terraces before flowing directly into the Caribbean Sea. (Yes, you can climb it — and you should.) The entire region is lush and untamed in the best way, filled with thick foliage, hidden paths, and cool shade from the Caribbean sun.

The vibe: Ocho Rios is the reason Jamaica is called “the land of wood and water.” Waterfalls, jungle, and beaches galore.

Go off-road and relax on a bamboo raft floating under the canopy. Along the roadside, fresh fruit stands dot the drive with bursts of color and island flavor. Come to Ochi to chase waterfalls and drift down jungle rivers. Stay to soak up the lush scenery and spend lazy days on the beach.

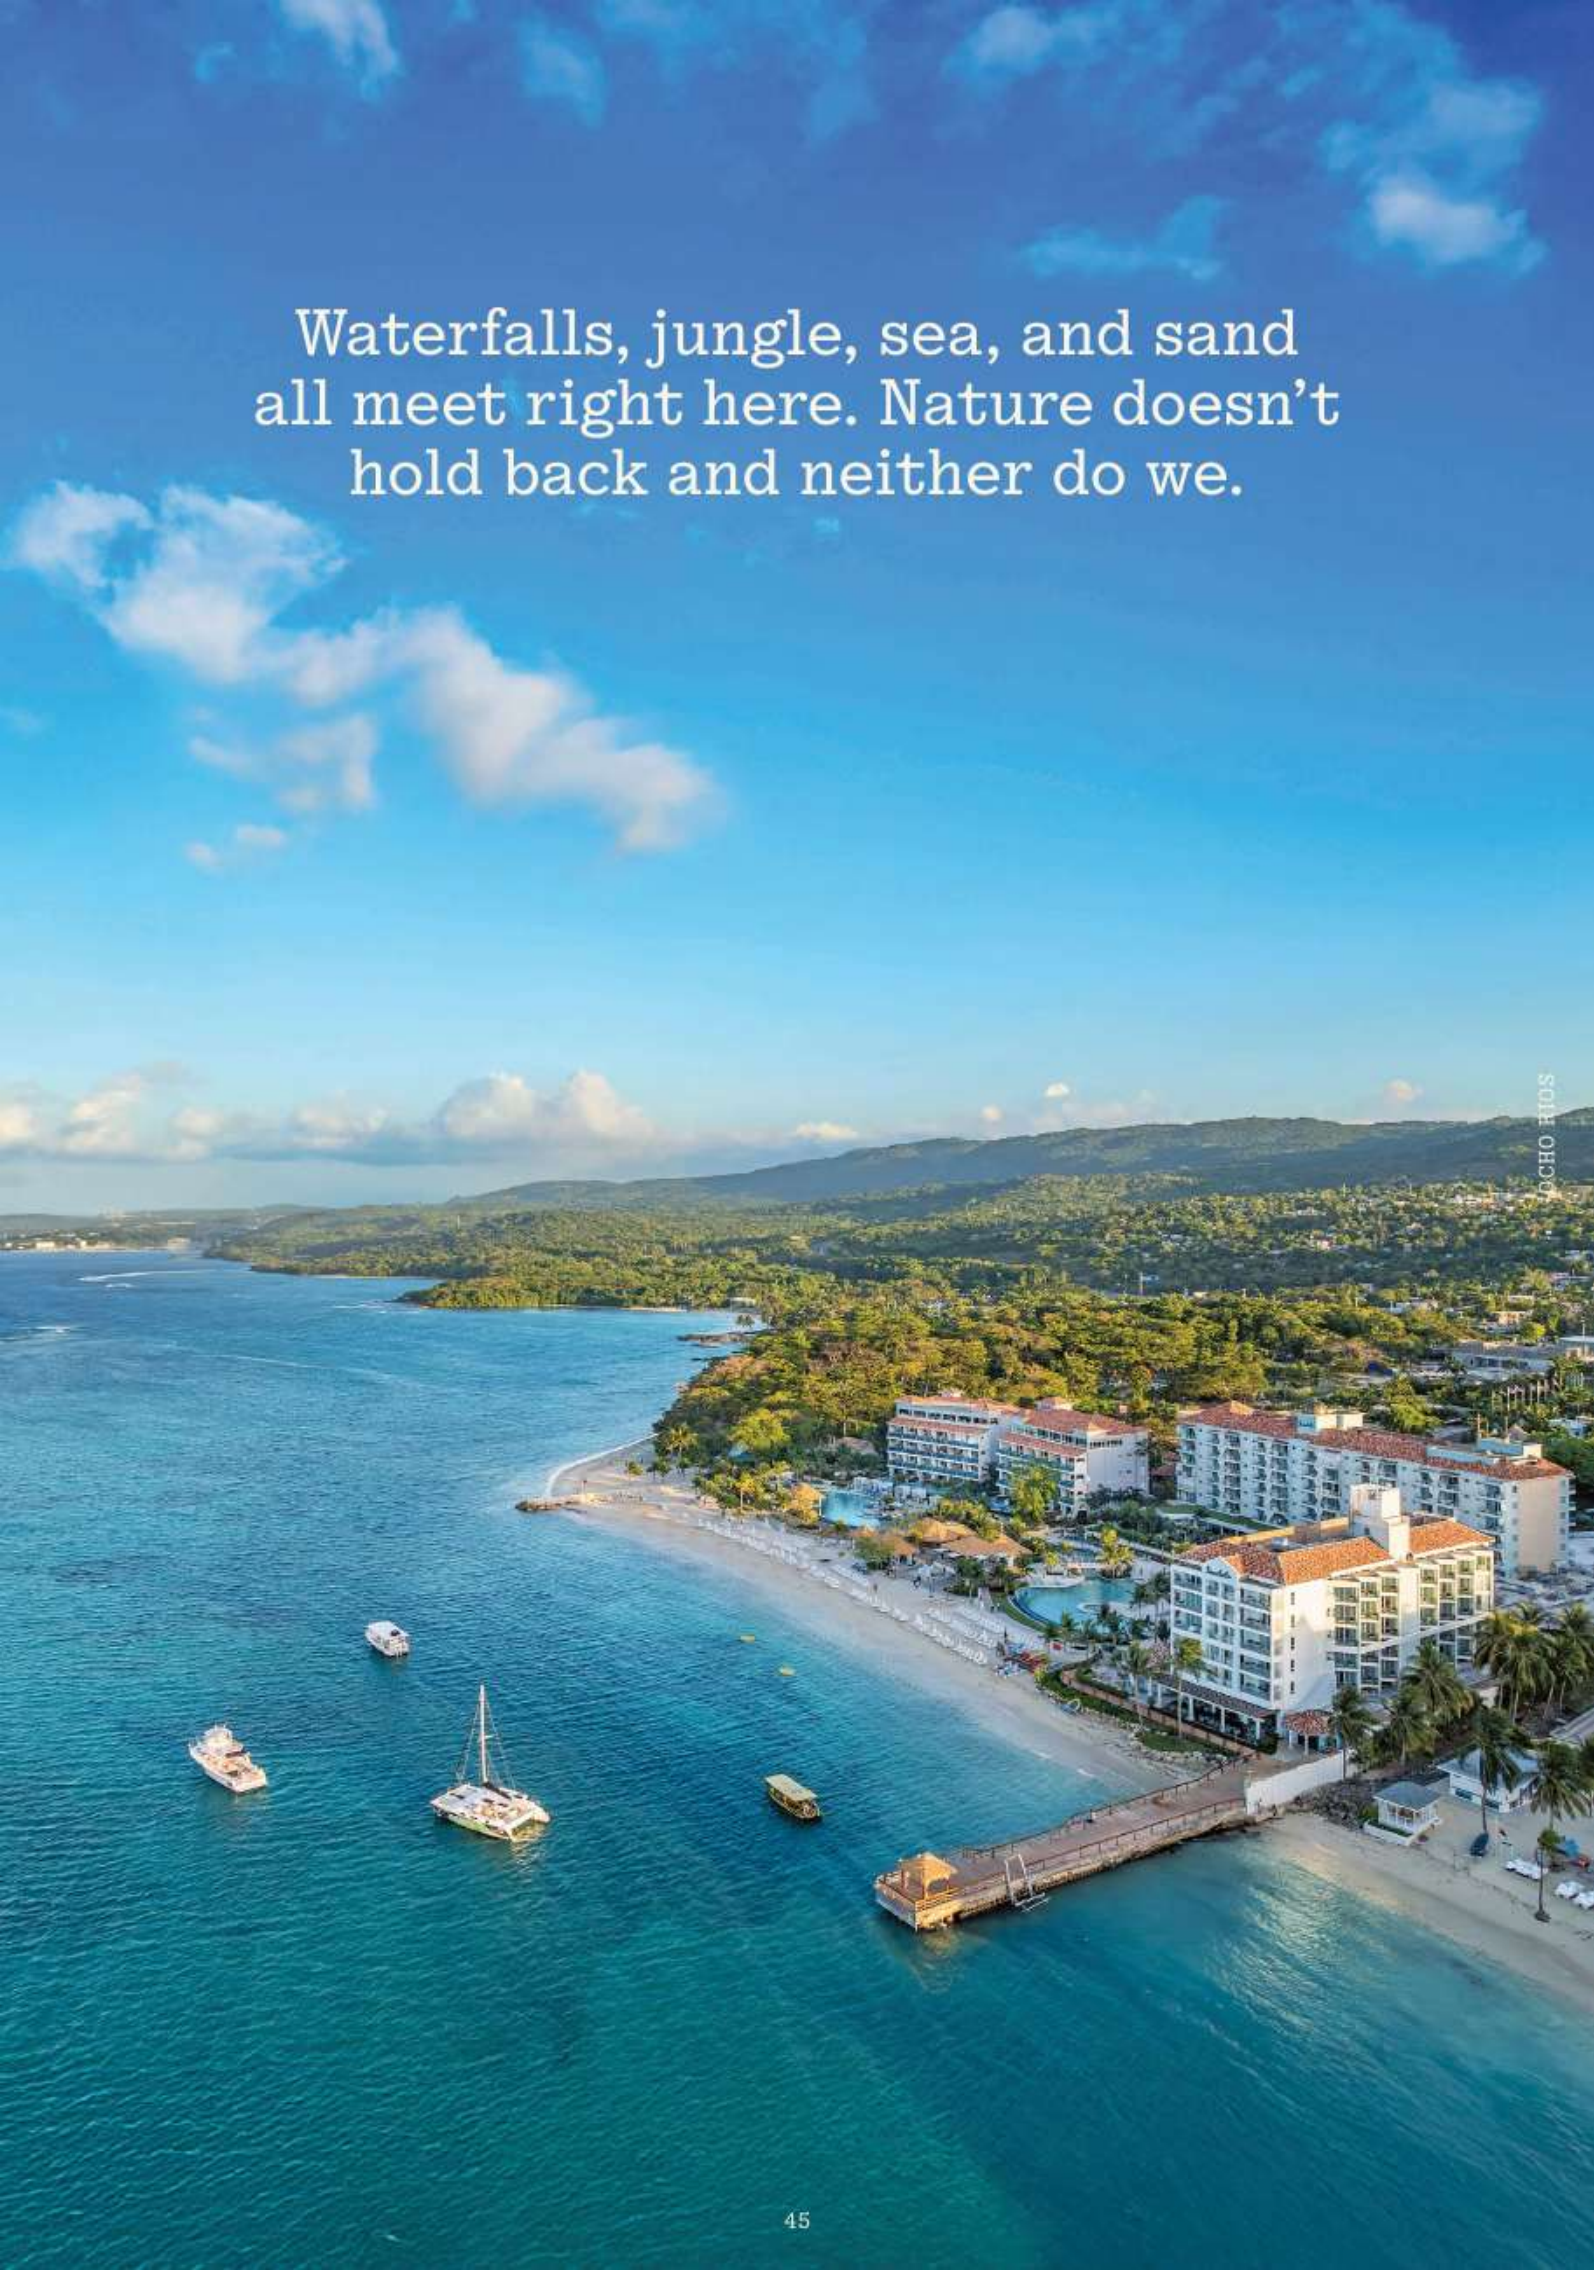

Dunn's River

Sandals Dunn's River

Sandals Dunn's River knows how to flow — easy, open, and full of good energy. Pools twist through the resort like the river it's named for. The beach is quiet, the design feels fresh, and the vibe hits just right. Climb to the rooftop of your Coyaba Sky Rondoval Villa and look up at the stars. Jamaica knows how to put on a show no matter the time of day. Downstairs, the rum's always pouring at Dunn's Rum Club, and the live music keeps the pace loose. Wherever the current takes you, go with it. The flow is yours to follow.

Waterfalls, jungle, sea, and sand all meet right here. Nature doesn't hold back and neither do we.

Slow down and let the island show you what it's made of. Every moment is a reminder you're exactly where you're meant to be.

All You Can Play

Every land and water sport you can imagine is just steps from shore. And when you're ready for a vacation within your vacation, the Red Lane® Spa offers a true sanctuary of serenity. Begin with a quiet moment in the secluded main pool, then slip into your massage as the gentle rush of the river sets the soundtrack.

Sandals Ochi

Don't choose one kind of Jamaica — try the whole range. However you like to move, there's space for it here. In the mood for something upbeat? Start your day at the beach club, where the music's always bumping, the drinks stay cold, and the possibilities are wide open. Looking for something a little more relaxing? Head inland to the hillside, where Butler Villas sit tucked into 100 acres of lush, private gardens. Craving something new? You've got more than a dozen bars and restaurants to explore — including a speakeasy (if you know how to find it). Plus, the Upton Estate Golf & Country Club is right up the road, with green fees on us.

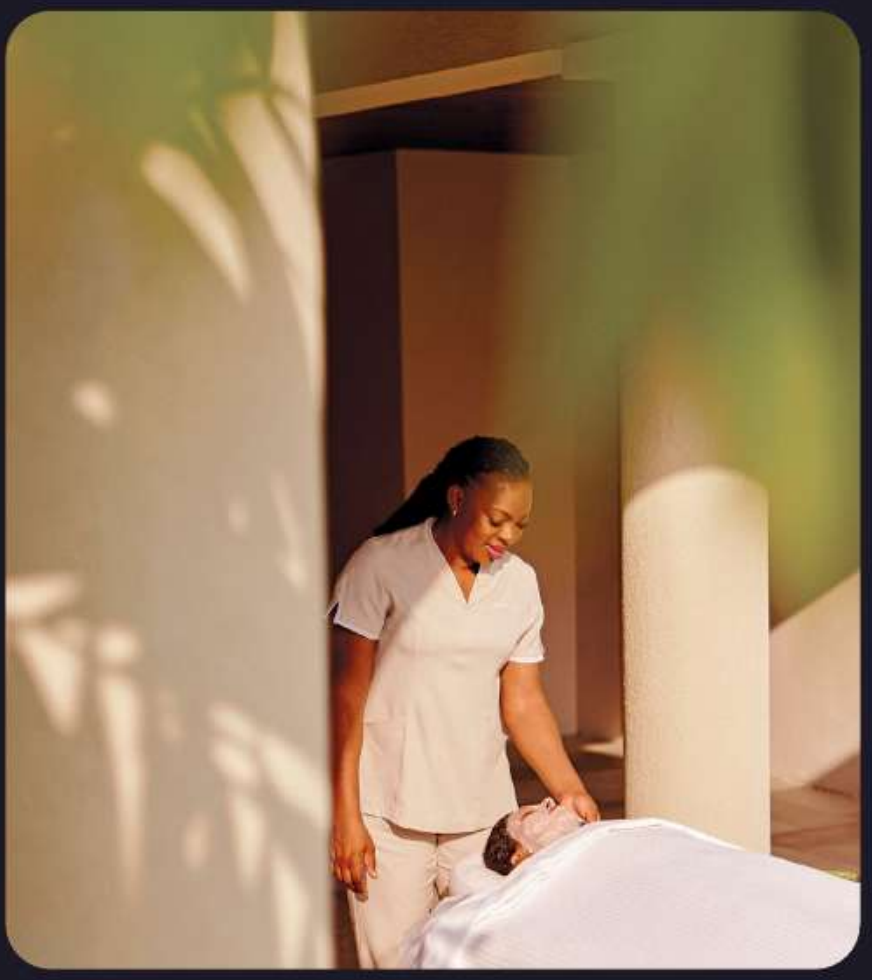

Ocean Views That Widen Your Horizons

Big energy, total privacy, or somewhere in between — Ochi lets you find your rhythm and follow it. Every pocket of the resort has its own feel. And once you land in the right one, it's hard to leave.

For groups or friends traveling together, Ochi's new Villa with four One-Bedroom Butler Suites and Private Pool is the ultimate "together, but with your own space" escape. Mornings might start with everyone gathered around the pool, coffee in hand, trading plans for the day. Then it's back to your own suite for a little privacy before the next adventure.

Your butler makes sure everything runs without a hitch, whether it's topping off the ice bucket or reserving the best table for dinner. And because this is Ochi, shifting from one vibe to another is as effortless as the island breeze.

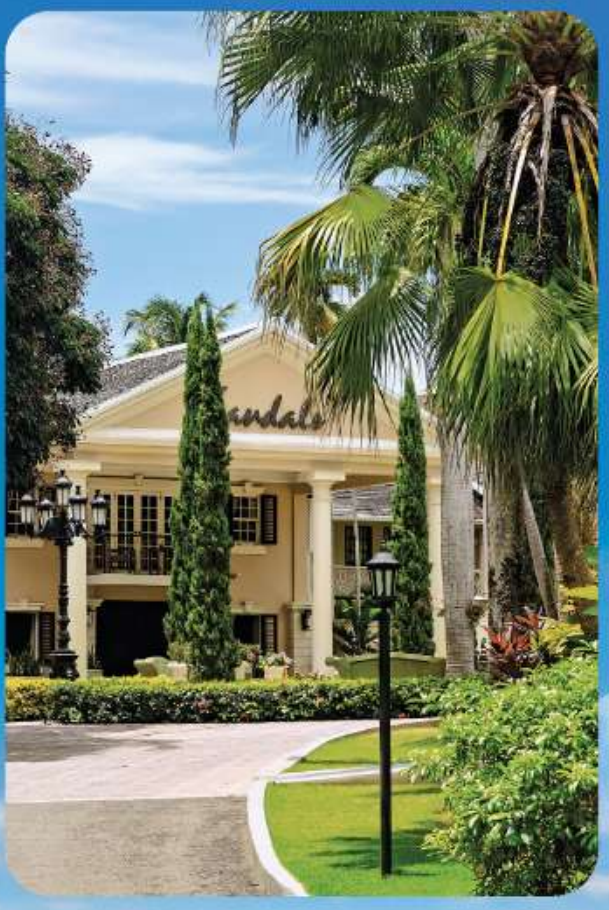

Fun beach vibes with space to recharge.

Sandals Royal Plantation

With only 74 oceanview suites, Sandals Royal Plantation offers a boutique feel with the comfort of everything taken care of. Tucked into a coral bluff overlooking a private cove, this all-butler resort is understated sophistication at its finest — intimate, refined, and undeniably Jamaican. Retro-chic charm and casual island elegance draw in jet-setters and creative minds looking for something more soulful than flashy. Enjoy afternoon tea in the garden among roaming peacocks, or toast to the sunset at Jamaica's only Champagne and caviar bar. Enjoy personalized service, timeless style, and a setting that feels like a secret.

OCHO RIOS

Tucked into a lush hillside with sweeping views of the sea, every view looks like a postcard come to life.

This is where you go to take a deep breath. To read a book on your balcony, order room service (twice), and never check the time. Every detail is designed for that effortless feel — your favorite cocktails always remembered, your beach lounger always ready. At Sandals Royal Plantation, the peaceful moments shine.

When you're ready for a change of scenery, two private beaches await: one flowing with water sports, the other made for quiet sunbathing. Pause at the Wobbly Peacock for a perfectly mixed cocktail, or linger over fine dining where every table feels private.

Misty Mornings

Good Morning? No. Great morning. That first sip of Jamaica Blue Mountain Coffee changes everything. Smooth. Low in acid. Full of flavor. Wake up to hints of citrus, chocolate, and a soft, almost creamy finish — brewed to gently pull you from sleep and push your day into motion.

If you've tasted it, you'll know: this isn't just any coffee. Blue Mountain beans are grown high in Jamaica's mist-covered peaks, where cool temperatures, rich soil, and just the right amount of rainfall work together to create a delicious roast. Compared to the average coffee, it takes twice as long to grow. And it shows. Locals call it liquid gold. Once you've had a cup, you'll get why. For generations, farmers have worked these hillsides by hand — tending each bean with skill, patience, and respect for the land.

So there's pride in every pour and tradition in every taste.

Plus, there's something about coffee served with a sunrise that just hits different. The best way to chase the horizon is with a fresh cup in hand: warm mug, warm light, and the world just starting to wake up. That's the beauty of our own backyard. Born in the mountains and brewed to perfection, life is too short to settle for anything less. So wherever you are — be it a balcony at Sandals Ochi or your kitchen back home — make it a Blue Mountain morning. Make it count.

More Fyah at Scotchies

Just outside of Ocho Rios, behind a wall of trees and a haze of pimento smoke, you'll find Scotchies restaurant — not by sign, but by scent. The aroma leads the way: fire-roasted jerk, spice drifting on the breeze, meat crackling over open flames. Say the name "Scotchies" and locals will knowingly nod in approval, often following up with their personal order and a tip to go heavy on the sauce.

Scotchies started in the early 2000s as a tiny curbside treasure in Montego Bay, founded by Tony Rerrie and named for a friend known simply as "Scotchie." What began as a roadside gem has since grown into a small but mighty institution, with locations across the island and a reputation that travels far beyond it. True to its name, and to Jamaica's infamous scotch bonnet pepper, this place packs heat, if you're brave enough to ask for it. Just don't say we didn't warn you about the peppa sauce.

Today, it remains a local legend for good reason and a great addition to every foodie's to-do list. The jerk pork is the headliner, the chicken a strong co-star — both grilled slowly over pimento wood and served with festival and roasted breadfruit. Expect to find reggae music playing over the speakers and locals taking it easy. Benches are shared, pepper sauce is revered, and nothing on the menu is worth missing.

It's also the perfect pit stop while you're exploring the lush landscapes of Ochi. Just note: it's not part of a scheduled Island Routes day tour, so you'll want to arrange your own transfer. Swing by the Island Routes desk while you're in the area and we'll help set it up.

This is jerk the way it was meant to be. And if you haven't tasted it here, have you really tasted Jamaica at all?

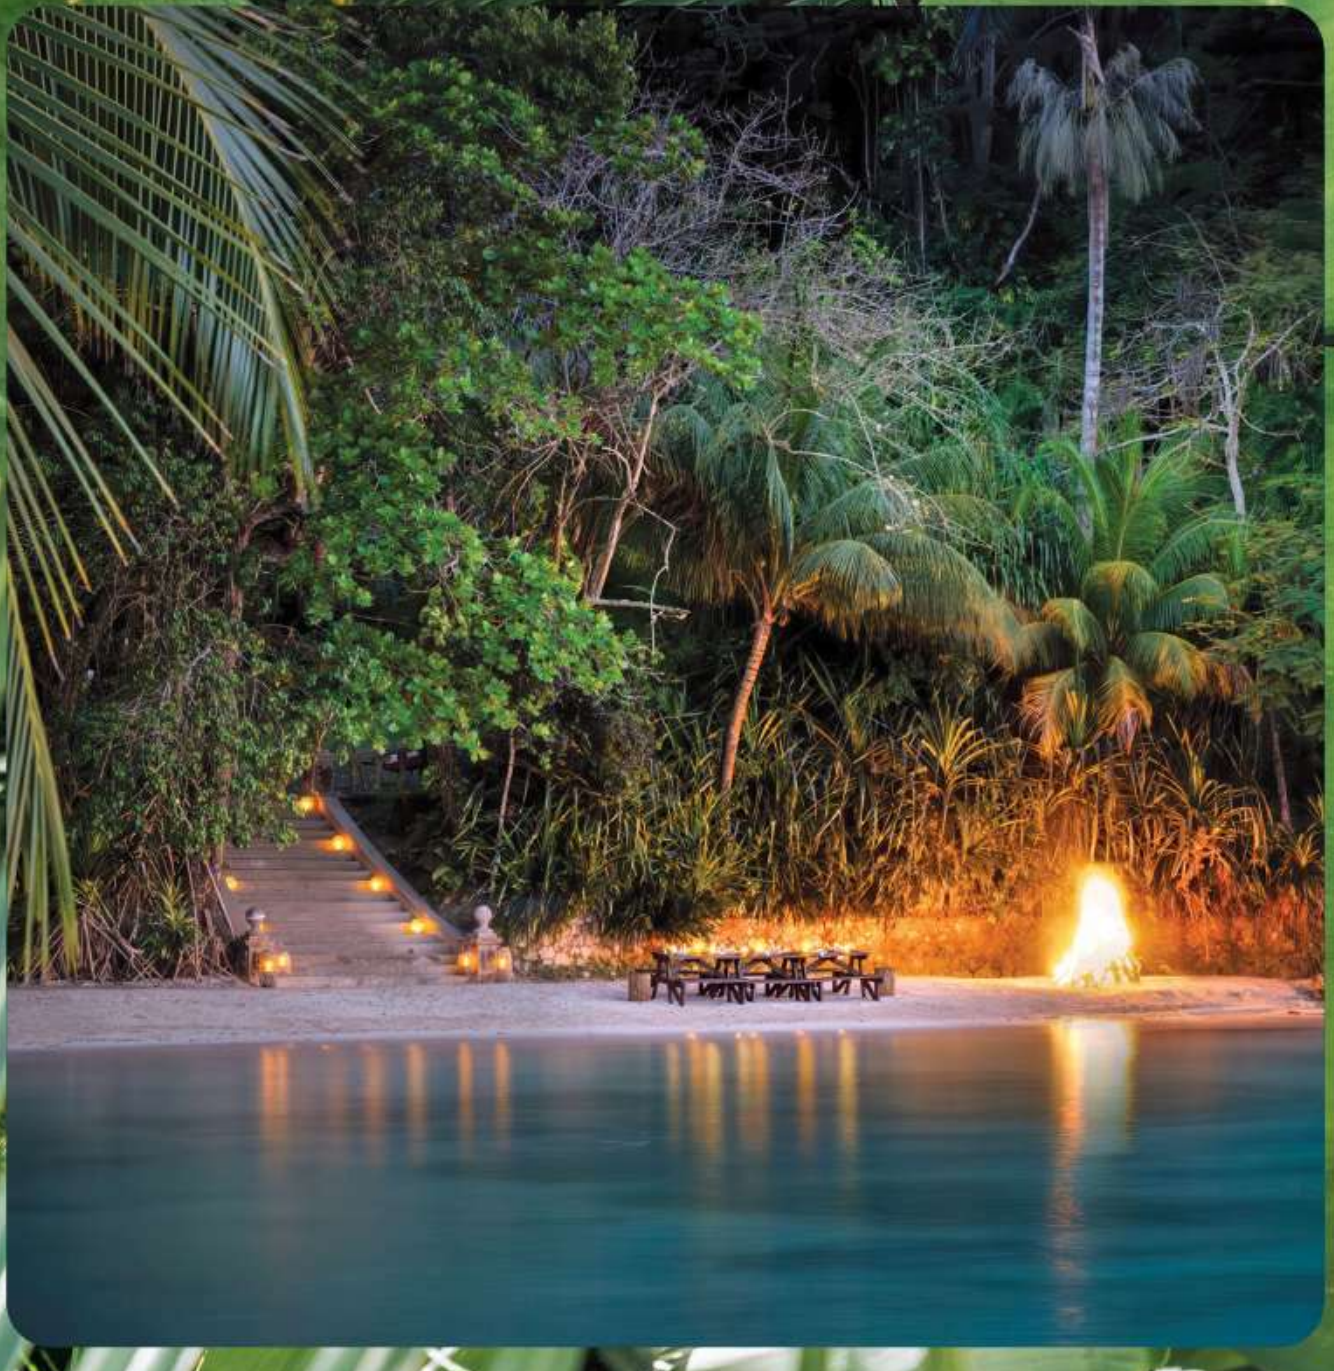

"A likkle bit of spice never hurt no one"

Highlights

Ocho Rios is where the island shows off. Climb the terraced rush of Dunn's River Falls or dive into the bright blue depths of the Blue Hole. For a change of pace, cruise downhill through the misty Blue Mountains or stop for a cup of world-famous coffee with a view.

Thinking about slowing things down? No problem. Find a beach, order a cold rum punch, and let the island do the rest. Because in Ocho Rios, you're never far from a new adventure (or the perfect spot to relax and do nothing at all).

Pon di Road

"On the Road"

Dunn's River Falls

One of Jamaica's most iconic attractions for good reason. Dunn's River Falls is a natural, terraced playground where you can climb, splash, and cool off all at once. It's equal parts thrill and chill. Just don't forget your water shoes, those rocks don't play.

Blue Hole

Swim in limestone pools, explore hidden caves, and take the hike to the secret falls — it's worth every step. Cliff jumping, ziplining, and tubing bring the buzz, while the scenic views keep things grounded. It's an adventure from start to finish, dive in.

Upton Estate Golf & Country Club

You're a member of the club at one of Jamaica's finest courses. With green fees and transfers included, you can drop in and play anytime, surrounded by rolling fairways and sea-to-mountain views.

Mystic Mountain

Part rainforest, part thrill ride, all Ochi views. Ride up above the treetops, then take on the Jamaican bobsled with fast turns, big laughs, and pure adrenaline. When you're ready to slow it down, soak in the canopy-level scenery and let the island breeze do the rest.

Neg

The vibe: White-sand beaches, killer sunsets, and laid-back energy.

In the ‘70s, Negril was a magnet for free spirits — locals and visitors alike — who came chasing sun, soul, and adventure. Barefoot days turned into bonfire nights, and somehow, reggae always seemed to be floating through the air. That legacy still lingers in every sunset and side street because Negril moves at its own pace, always welcoming those who wander.

The crown jewel? Seven Mile Beach. And yes, it really is seven miles of powdery white sand, coves, and turqoise water. This beach stretches as far as the eye can see, but if you look closely you’ll find endless activities as well: paddleboarding, snorkeling, kayaking, or even kicking back under the shade of a palm tree for a quick nap.

But there’s more to Negril than its shoreline. Follow the coast and you’ll find cliffside hideaways, jerk shacks with smoky perfection, and locals who’ll stop what they’re doing just to show you the best place to catch the sunset.

Right in the heart of it all is adults-only Sandals Negril and family-friendly Beaches Negril. Step out of your suite and onto the sand. No worries, or shuttles. Just the easiest kind of access to one of the most iconic coastlines in the Caribbean. Swim before breakfast. Eat on the sand. Dance whenever the mood hits. If you're looking for the chill side of Jamaica, Negril's ready when you are. And it's always worth staying a little longer.

Sandals Negril

Closer to the water's edge than anywhere else on Jamaica's famous Seven Mile Beach, Sandals Negril is the perfect place to lose track of time and maybe your shoes, too. While you're at it, make sure to pull up a beach chair and watch Negril's iconic sunsets.

And if snorkeling or scuba diving is your thing, Negril's reef is arguably the best on island, just make sure you're back in time for sunset cocktails at the bar. Then, lay your head to rest at our Bamboo Grove One-Bedroom Butler Suite, perched on the fourth floor with views of the Caribbean Sea. There's a roof terrace for sunbathing, stargazing, and everything in between. Plus, a private Skypool, so you can take a dip or float around while eye-level with the horizon.

When you're not on the sand or in the water, there's plenty more to explore. Drift between the resort's beachfront pools, linger over a long lunch at Barefoot by the Sea, or try something new — from paddleboarding to sailing.

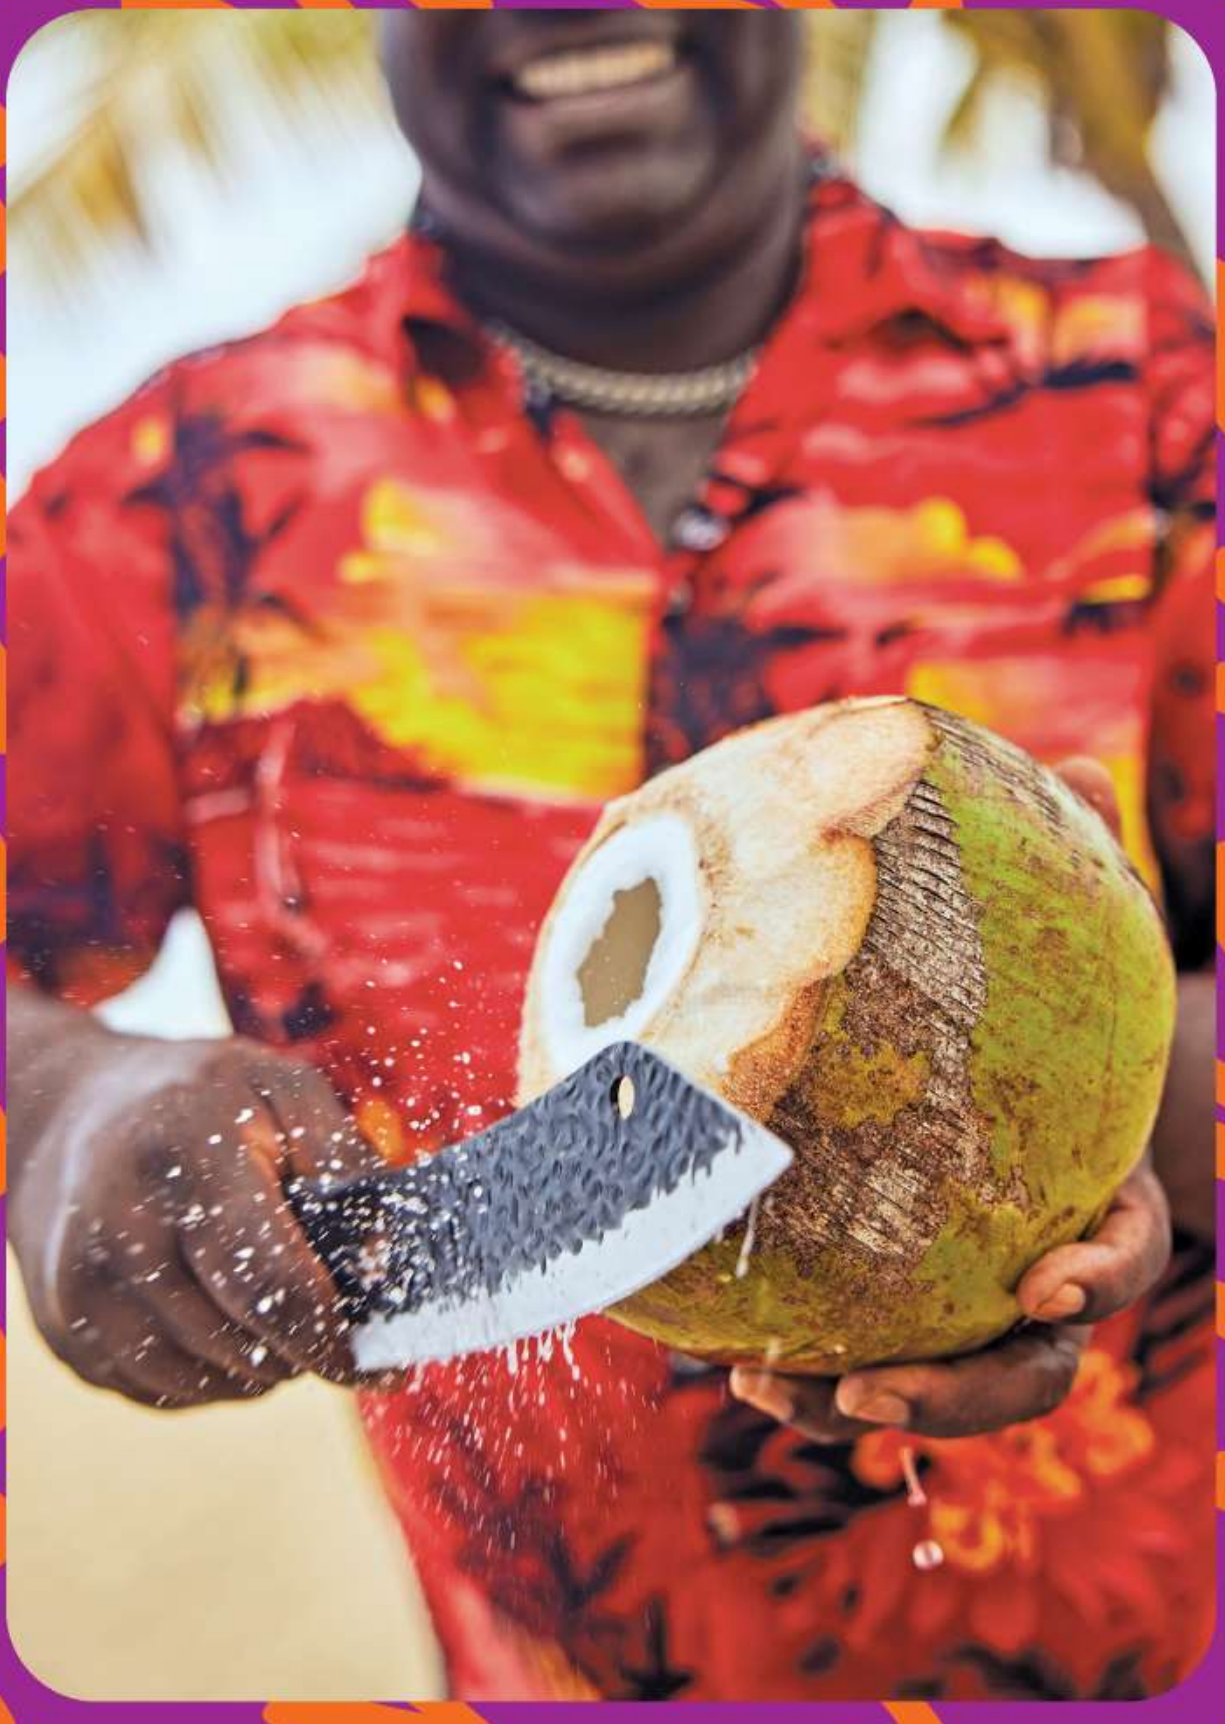

By day, you've got eight restaurants and five bars (including two swim-ups) to dine and sip through, plus PADI® scuba diving for certified divers, snorkeling, water skiing, Hobie Cats, paddleboards, glass-bottom boat tours, and more. On land, there are four pools, three whirlpools, day-to-night entertainment, tennis, pickleball, and a full fitness center, so there's always another way to play.

Tropical Ease

Logistics stay easy, too: arrivals come through Sangster International (MBJ) in Montego Bay, with round-trip transfers included for the scenic drive to Seven Mile Beach.

NEGRIL

Beaches Negril

Right in the heart of Seven Mile Beach, Beaches Negril is where families fall into the island's natural groove. Mornings roll into afternoons without anyone checking the time. The kids of all ages are off at Kids Camp or tearing through the water park. You? Maybe a kayak trip out to admire the coastline or a nap under the palms, cold drink in hand, and that paperback you meant to read resting quietly beside you. Turns out, the view's the real page-turner. It's all here, whenever you are.

The FireSky Reserve Villas and Eventide Penthouses were made for groups who travel together but still want room to roam. Spacious, airy, and just a few sandy steps from the sea, they're the kind of places you settle into. No schedules, no fuss — just easy days, wrapped in salt air and that warm Negril light.

All smiles on
Seven Mile Beach.
Plus adventure.
And so much more.

Little vacationers of all ages find their groove at Kids Camp. They can hang out with Sesame Street® friends like Elmo, Cookie Monster, and more — or make some human friends, too. Teens rule the beach volleyball court, while the whole crew drifts back together for lazy laps in the calm, shallow sea. When appetites kick in, 13 dining spots are ready to serve whatever you're craving.

Evenings at Beaches Negril offer plenty to do for every age. Families can grab gelato before catching a movie under the stars. The resort's catamarans set sail for sunset cruises along Seven Mile Beach, and live entertainment runs nightly — from steel drum bands to beach bonfires. When it's time to turn in, your suite is a short stroll away along lighted pathways.

Rick's Café

They Dare You to Jump

Live life on the edge. Literally. Say hello to Rick's Café: home of ice-cold drinks, daring cliff divers, and sunsets that practically melt into the horizon. It's the stuff of legend. But remember, legends aren't born, they're made — and this one was carved into the West End Cliffs of Negril in 1974.

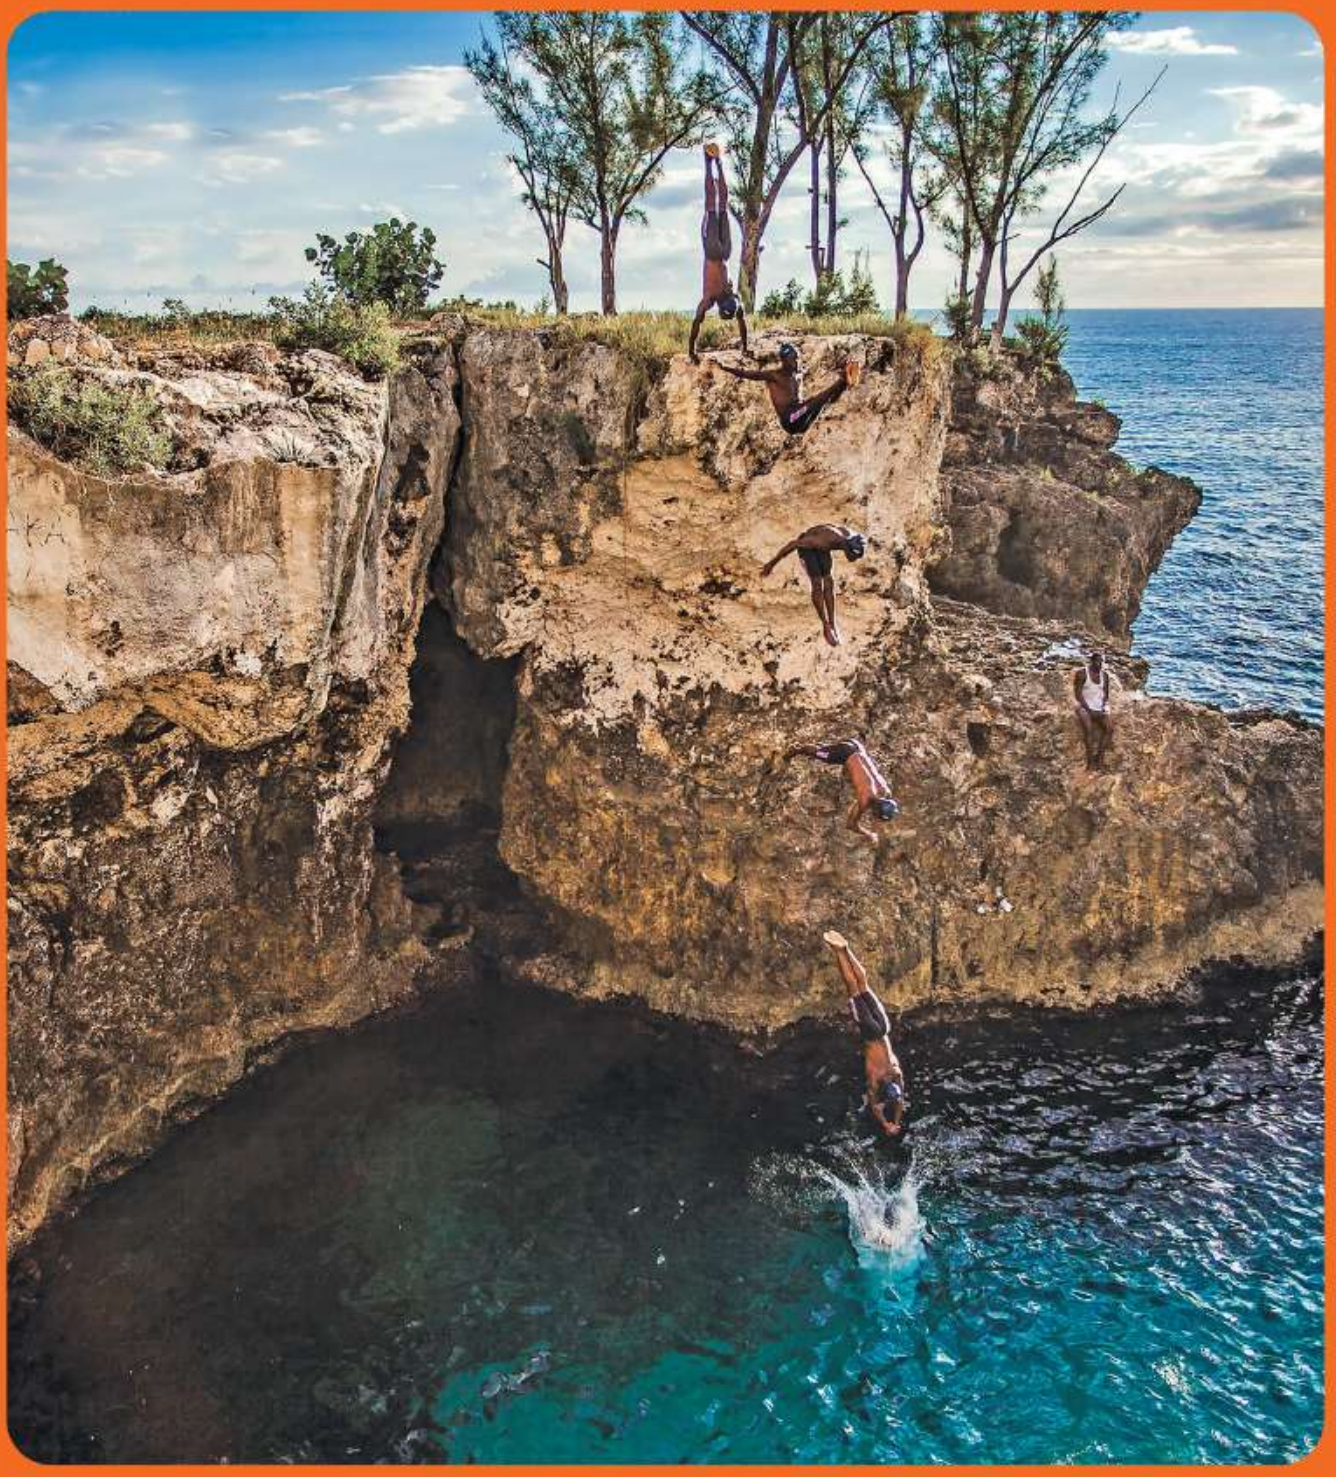

Now, we're going to let you in on a little secret. Being first isn't just about timing. It's about daring to do what no one else will. Richard Hershman (yeah, Rick) knew that best. He was a risk-taker. Back when Jamaica's Seven Mile Beach was first gaining traction, Rick took a chance by building a restaurant on the cliffs instead.

Over the years it hasn't always been smooth sailing, but even hurricanes can't shake the vision. Rick's Café comes back bigger and better each time, turning setbacks into stepping stones and storms into stories to share with each new wave of travelers.

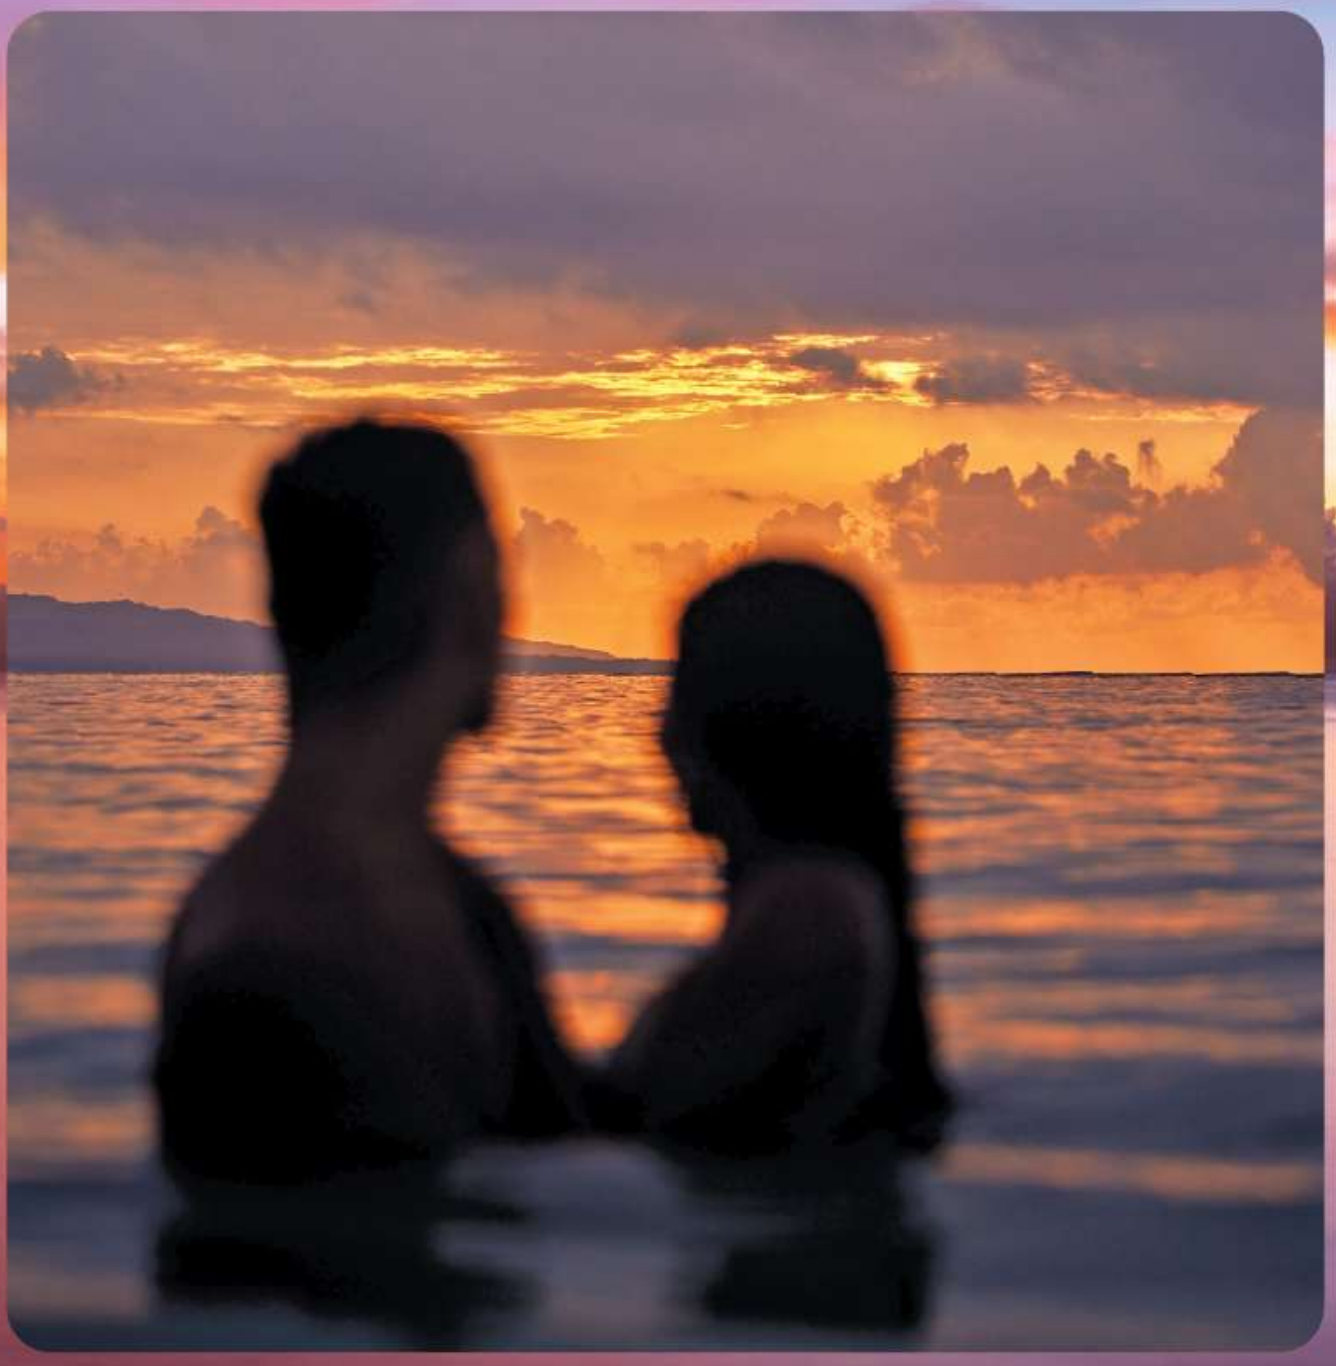

Getting to Rick's is part of the story, especially by water. Book it as part of an Island Routes catamaran experience from Sandals Negril or Beaches Negril, then swim up from the boat and step straight into the energy. Grab a drink, catch the sunset, and watch the cliff divers fly.

Whatever you decide, the story's far from over — so don't leave on a cliffhanger. Come write a chapter of your own.

"Di west end is di best end"

NEGRIL

Highlights

The sand in Negril feels different — cooler somehow, like it knows what you're here for. But don't let the calm fool you. Take a ride through the wilderness on an ATV, mud flying, adrenaline pumping, laughter bouncing off the trees. Or ride horseback into the surf like you've got the whole coastline to yourself, a scene straight out of a movie. Later, a cold drink on the cliffs calls your name. Not just any cliffs — Rick's, where the brave jump and the rest cheer, but the sunset always steals the spotlight regardless.

Here, the island moves how it wants. You? You just move with it, letting the days carry you from the shoreline to the terrace and back again, no schedule required, only the sea's gentle cue.

Pon di Road

"On the Road"

Seven Mile Beach

Take a guess at how many miles of soft white-sand beach you've got to discover? Walk it, run it, explore it side to side — we call that a Jamaican 10K. Explore seven miles of white sand, coves, and stunning turquoise water.

Ditch the Road

Looking to get your heart rate up? Try racing through the jungle on an ATV or riding horseback straight into golden hour. It's an island adventure with no filter — just mud, speed, and all the grins that come with it.

Sunset Spotting

Thanks to its west coast location, Negril delivers stop-you-in-your-tracks sunsets that paint the sky in bold streaks of orange and purple. Find a beachside chair and settle in for Mother Nature's tropical light show.

Take a Leap

Locals make cliff diving look easy, flipping from 40 feet up into the clear water below. Want in? Check out Negril icons like The Caves or 3 Dives, pick your spot, and take the leap. Not into heights? No stress. Grab a drink, find a perch, and watch the pros work their magic. Just one rule: always look before you jump.

The vibe: Get off the beaten path at Jamaica's best-kept secret.

The South Coast of Jamaica is its own thing altogether — rugged, wild, and charming. This is the place for insiders, creatives, and vacationers to get off the beaten path. Located in Jamaica's breadbasket, the parish of Saint Elizabeth is where most of the island's bounty grows in its iconic red dirt. Say hello to the road less traveled and more fulfilling.

Rustic eateries hug the shoreline, where boats bring in the morning's catch (soon to be your dinner) and stories flow as easily as a cold Ting or Sea Cat Punch. This is where spice is done right, fruit stalls overflow with just-picked mangoes, and a quiet kind of magic lingers in the air. You'll find Middle Quarters here too, home of the legendary peppa shrimp.

If you're looking for somewhere that's a little harder to find and a lot harder to leave, this is the spot.

Sandals South Coast

This resort is all about the water, so the sea stays front and center. The heart-shaped Blue Mahoe Overwater Villas stretch out into the Caribbean, designed for those who like their mornings with a view straight to the reef. They even have glass floor panels that let you greet the vibrant sea life before your first sip of coffee.

Every day begins with sunlight dancing on the waves and ends with ocean breezes through wide-open doors. On land, the new Rondoval offers circular suites with swim-up access, surrounded by lush gardens and made for calm, private days. Here, it's all about space to breathe, time to wander, and the little details that make a stay feel personal.

A Refreshing Ocean-Inspired Retreat

Beyond your suite, the coastline stretches for miles of quiet beach and protected wetlands that are perfect for unhurried walks at sunrise and stargazing at night. Play a match (or three) of pickleball on our competitive, USAP-certified courts, then ease into island time with a restorative Red Lane Spa treatment and let the sea breeze do the rest.

Stroll miles of untouched beach, watch stars spill
across the horizon,
and let each day find its natural rhythm.

"Peppa shrimp! Di original hotstepper!"

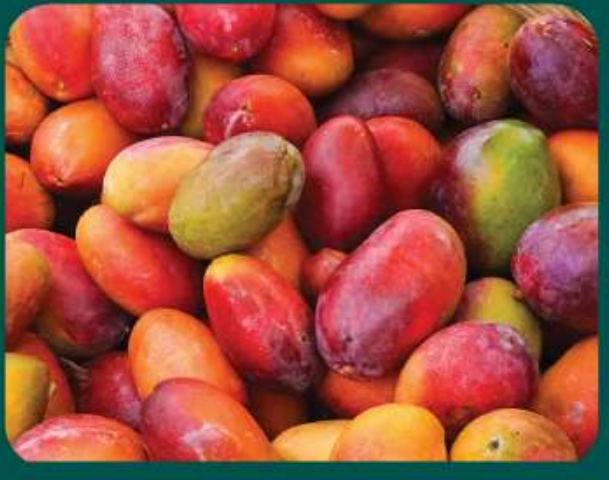

The intercoastal road winds past yam fields and stretches of thick green jungle, then bends toward Middle Quarters — a blink-and-you'll-miss-it village on Jamaica's South Coast. You'll know you've arrived by the smell of smoke, salt, and sting of Scotch bonnet pepper drifting through your open window.

Generations back, the fishermen of Middle Quarters turned to the Black River to pull freshwater shrimp straight from its depths. They'd trap them in hand-woven baskets, boil them with whatever was on hand, and sell them fresh to travelers passing through the South Coast. Over time, the little shrimp stands became tradition. Recipes got hotter. Lines got longer. And word spread, like everything good in Jamaica does, slow at first, then all at once. Now, Middle Quarters is known as the peppa shrimp hub of Jamaica. If you're into spice, you must visit this spot. Pro tip, if you're staying at Sandals South Coast, make a trip to YS Falls. You'll drive right past Middle Quarters and get a stunning waterfall along with the best shrimp you've ever tried.

You can't leave Jamaica without trying the peppa shrimp... it's the law. Just kidding, sorta. And if you spot fresh-cut sugar cane by the roadside, don't pass it up. It's a simple, sweet snack that keeps things fresh as you cruise the coast.

So when you're heading through Saint Elizabeth, don't speed by. Pull over. Buy the bag. Eat it hot. And let it set the tone for the rest of your trip. It's the only reason you'll need to take the long way home.

Not into shrimp? Jamaica's roadside eats still have you covered. Pull over for just-picked mangoes, pineapple, or whatever's in season at the local fruit stands. They're just as iconic in their own right.

Drift over to

Floyd's Pelican Bar

Give Floyd a call, then ask for a boat. You'll need one. About half a mile off Jamaica's South Coast, perched on a little reef, sits Floyd's Pelican Bar. Built in 2001 from driftwood and daydreams, this solar-powered hideaway started as a place for local fishermen to unwind after a day at sea. Now it's where locals and visitors mix to sip on rum punches, wade in the sandbar, laugh over dominoes, and watch the sun sink into the horizon to a reggae beat.

It's the kind of hangout spot that could only come from a Jamaican imagination: laid-back, one-of-a-kind, and entirely off the grid.

The easiest, and most scenic, way to get there is with Island Routes. Sail by catamaran from Sandals South Coast, music up and breeze in your face. Drop anchor in those blue shallows, then swim right up to the bar like it's your local haunt. Order something cold, grab a seat, and let the day slow down. When you're ready, slip back into the sea and climb aboard to continue the adventure. Breeze on your skin, laughter in the air, and a sunset that fills the horizon.

Floyd's is a South Coast must. You'll talk about it long after the salt's been rinsed off your skin.

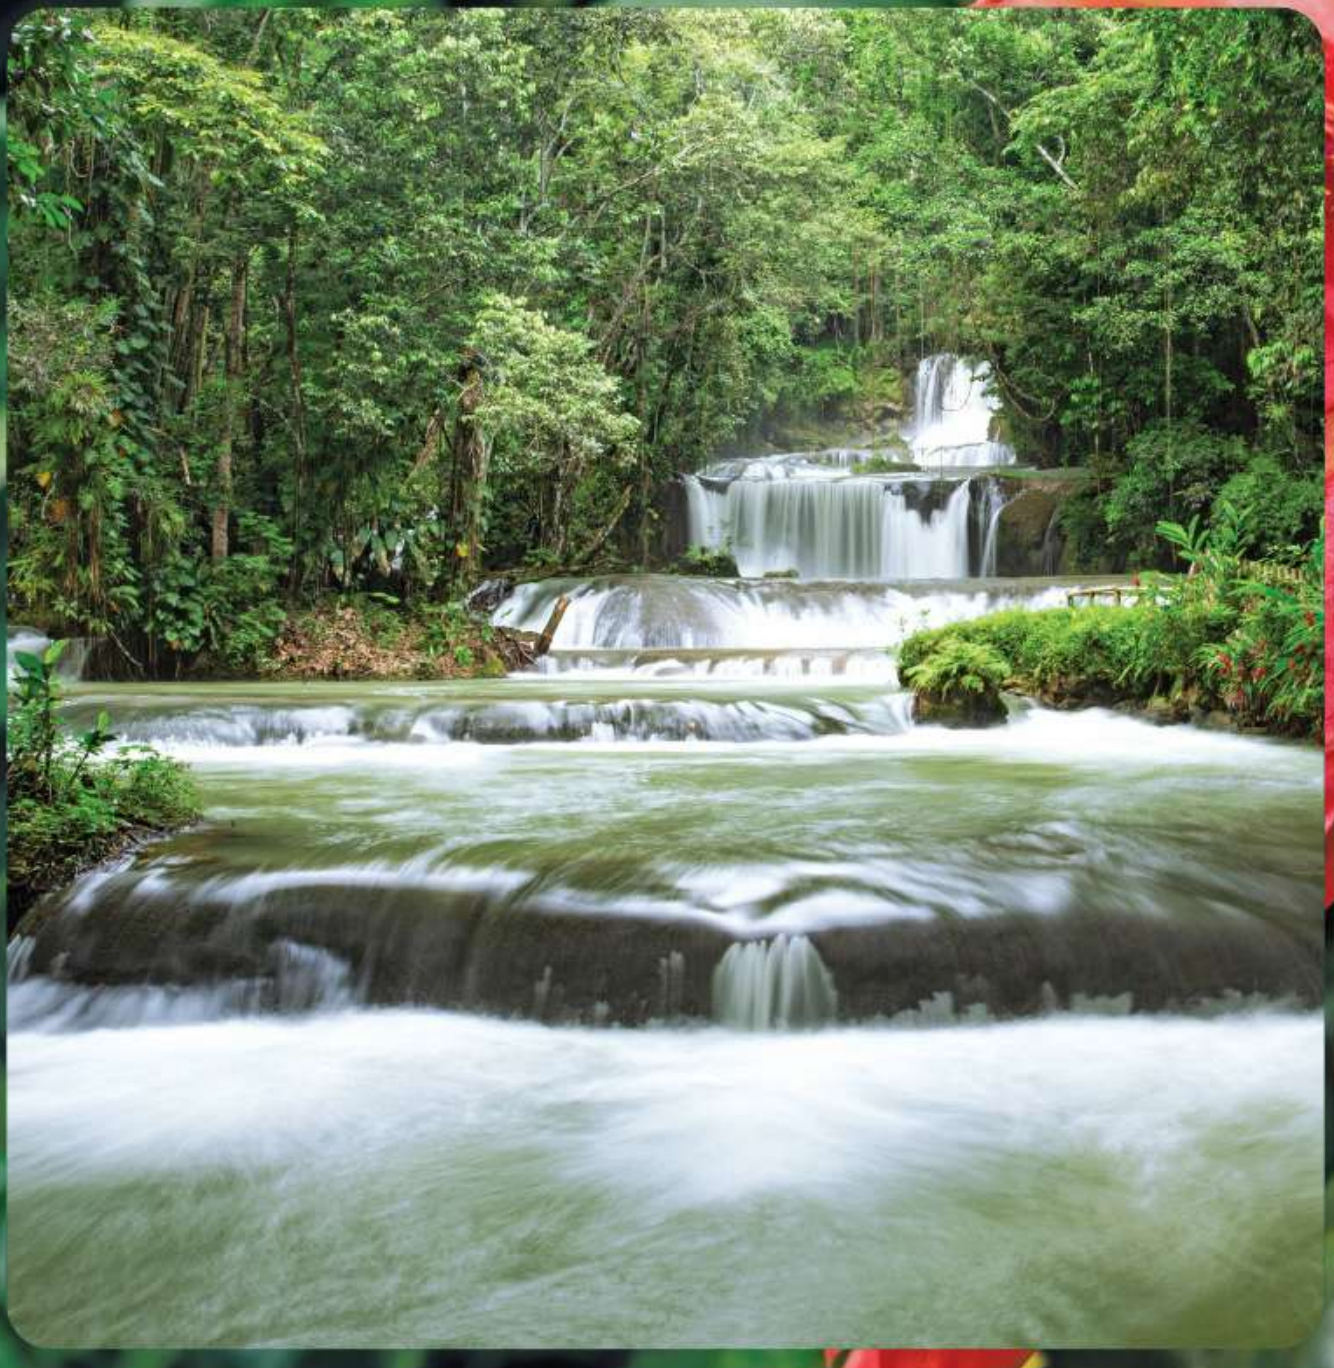

"Dominoes, a Caribbean sunset, full bellies and a full heart. It's our way of life."

Highlights

The South Coast is rugged, rich, and full of stories. One minute you're swimming beneath the rush of YS Falls, the next you're swinging from ropes like you're in your own island movie.

Try peppered shrimp in Middle Quarters — fresh, fiery, and full of attitude. Take a joy ride under the green arches of Bamboo Avenue and stop for a quick pic. It's one of the most photographed places on the island. Or, you can always sip something smooth at Appleton Estate, where centuries of rum-making have turned into an art form. Off-road here means off-script — and all in.

Chase Waterfalls

Why settle for one waterfall when you can wander through seven? YS Falls is one of Jamaica's finest natural attractions. Cool off in clear pools, swing out over the water, or take your time exploring the lush gardens — every turn's worth the walk.

Bottoms Up

The Appleton Estate has been brewing rum since 1734 — back when pirates drank it by the gallon. Walk the grounds, see how the magic's made, then sip Jamaica's smoothest straight from the source. The 12-Year blend is a must-try. It's bold and best enjoyed on the rocks or neat.

Middle Quarters

Here, the days roll easy and the stories run deep. Along the South Coast, this town greets you with rivers, bridges, and roadside stalls that tell real Jamaican stories. When the scent of pepper shrimp hits, do yourself a favor — pull over.

Safari Cruise

Head to the Black River and cruise through a freshwater ecosystem filled with mangroves, birds, and crocodiles sunning on the banks. Wave hi! (from a safe distance).

Island Routes

Pronounced "Roots"

They say you've never really traveled somewhere unless you've truly immersed yourself into your surroundings. Soaking up traditions and culture so rich you'll have stories to tell long after the trip is over.

Some vacationers swear by the beach chair. And we get it — with resorts this beautiful and welcoming, it's easy to stay put: feet up, drink in hand, no worries to be found.

But if you never venture out, you miss what makes this mighty country so unforgettable.

That's where Island Routes comes in. Born right here in Jamaica in 2009, it started with people who didn't need a map to find the best spots across the Caribbean. They already knew the back roads to the best jerk, which beach the fishermen pull into at sunrise, and which rivers shine with bioluminescence at night. Picture yourself climbing Dunn's River Falls, floating the Martha Brae River on a bamboo raft, or catching the sunset (and cliff divers) at Rick's Café with a guide who knows the island like home.

Snuba Experience,
Montego Bay

Taste of Jamaica Cooking Class and Estate Tour,
Ocho Rios

Reggae Catamaran and Snorkeling Cruise,
Negril

These are authentic experiences handed to you by locals who live and breathe this island every day.

In Jamaica, vacation and adventure don't live in separate lanes. So bring your crew. Pick your path. Let the island unfold in front of you — real, rhythmic, and always one step off the brochure.

Around

REGGAE CAT CRUISE

Montego Bay

"Can't decide what was better, snorkeling or dancing on the boat. Might have to do both again."

We're going catamaran cruisin', hop in. The Island Routes Reggae Catamaran and Snorkeling Cruise is a three hour adventure you'll never forget.

Start with a cruise along the coast, then dive in to snorkel a nearby reef teeming with colorful marine life.

On board, the bar opens. The party picks up speed, bodies moving to the beat of the music. It's like a floating dance floor fully stocked with Caribbean cocktails and island bites. A bumping day club, but with better views.

DRIVE YOUR OWN

Ocho Rios

"Drove around all day, top down music up. The wind blew my hat off, but I didn't even notice until later... worth it."

Who says road trips have to be basic? With the Mini-Routes 'Drive Your Own' Adventure, you call the shots. Take the keys and follow your island guide through the best of Ocho Rios in style.

See something cool? Perfect, stop and explore. Smell something tasty? Well it's only fair that you let your tastebuds explore, too. Grab lunch at a spot most tourists never find or scale the iconic Dunn's River Falls, one of the only waterfalls in the world that empties straight into the sea. The world is your oyster, and don't forget to buckle up.

GONE FISHING

Negril

"Crew was awesome and locked-in, the views were unreal, and we hooked a mahi-mahi. Easy, fun, and 100% worth it."

Out past the coastline, Negril turns into open water — and that's where the real thrill lives. Head out on Island Routes' Deep Sea Fishing – Half Day tour, with an expert captain and crew who know exactly where the bite is. Then settle into the rhythm: sun overhead, cold drinks on ice, and the beauty of open sea.

You're fishing some of the Caribbean's most exciting waters, with chances to hook blue marlin, wahoo, mahi-mahi, tuna, and sailfish.

HORSEBACK BEACH RIDE

South Coast

"Felt like a movie. In love with the pics I got. Thank you Pepper (the horse)."

Giddy up! You're trotting down a remote stretch of Jamaica's South Coast: sea on one side, jungle on the other, and a breeze that does wonders blowing through your hair.

Your guide leads the way. Ride along the shoreline and then straight into the ocean — yes, your horse swims too. Sunlight dances on the water, and suddenly, your vacation feels a little unreal. No need to hold back here, just let loose and have a good time with your new apple-loving friend. This is the Island Routes Horseback Beach Ride.

LUMINOUS LAGOON

Montego Bay

"It was so surreal, I felt like a mermaid. The glowing blues were honestly otherworldly."

When night falls, the water here comes alive. The Island Routes Luminous Lagoon Experience is one of those things you won't believe until you see it for yourself.

The lagoon glows neon blue thanks to millions of tiny organisms that light up when you move. Jump in, swirl your hands, kick your feet — it's like swimming through stardust. It only happens in a few places on Earth, and Jamaica does it best.

POWERBOAT ADVENTURE

Ocho Rios

"Super organized and our tour guide was the best! I can still feel the breeze when I close my eyes."

Hop on a high-speed powerboat and tear down Jamaica's North Coast with the wind in your hair and nothing but blue ahead.

The Island Routes Powerboat and Dunn's River Falls Adventure will have you cruising past the famous Laughing Waters Beach (yes, like from the very first James Bond movie, Dr. No). When you're done being starstruck, dive in and snorkel the surrounding reef. After that, it's Dunn's River Falls. Whatever you decide, just make sure you get a selfie to remember the moment.

Where to Next?

You've explored Jamaica.
Now choose your next island mood. Return to the resort you love, or discover a new destination altogether.
Here's a simple rule: Sandals and Beaches don't just pick islands. We hand-select the best stretch of beach on each one, so the good part is already handled. Wherever you land, you can count on what you came for: sunshine, sea, and local culture that feels real. Every island has its own rhythm, and our all-inclusive means you can go all in:
roomy accommodations, food and drink worth lingering over, plus a full lineup of land and water sports included.

Wherever you go next,
we'll make it easy to settle in — harder to leave.
